Next weeks meeting program	City of Gosnells Museum

Pres Andy presented PDG Hugh with a $3,000.00 cheque for Rotary Foundation. Hugh graciously responded with thanks to the club on behalf of Foundation.

The club forum commenced with PE Ron announcing a vote on a number of Club Meeting procedures which you will find appended to this bulletin.

Various members then spoke for and against a number of the items regarding club projects, joint meetings etc that we have been asked to vote on as part of this week's club forum. These include Committee Meetings, Special Guest Speakers, Amalgamation with Maddington Club, Vocational nights, Special Projects and the Bulletin.

The main speaker was Ron Sloan who spoke passionately about the Literacy program that Ron has tried extremely hard to get off the grounds. All club members are asked to seriously think about this program and its benefit to the country if we can get it going.

The editors' opinion is that there is not much that is beyond this club once we put our collective minds towards achieving any goal. I can see only benefits to the club for at least trying, especially as Ron has done most of the work already.

It does look like one of our fellow Rotarians has become somewhat enthused with the European way of life whilst he has been away and has got himself a part time job modelling men's undies.

This was spotted in one of the better known men's magazines.

Whilst the Rotarian concerned can't believe that a quick 2 week diet have this effect, I believe that Anet is quite enamoured with the look.

For a small consideration, I will resist sending this photo to the Farmers Federation

Stand in husband

- Household duties only
- Putting Out Rubbish Bins – I will remind you where they are
- Mowing Lawns (only after much verbal encouragement)
- Washing dishes
- Able to listen to my work worries – I don't need any problems fixed – just a good listener. I have 7000 words every day that I have to get rid of and I work in a place where I can only get rid of about 2000 of them
- Some reasonable amount of believable flattery
- Cooking evening meals
- The ability to stay up and watch English Football in the early hours of the morning whilst screaming "Come on Spurs" would be a definite bonus
